MARRIED 71 YEARS — Frances Henry, who will be 88 May 20, and her husband, Joseph Gordon Henry, 98, center, observed their 71st wedding anniversary Saturday, March 6. Seated at left is the Henry's daughter, Mrs. Lennie Henry, 70, and her husband, Mr. W. H. Henry, 71, who live at Cottle. At right is their son, Mr. W. H. Henry, 71, who lives at Cottle.

Cottle Couple Married 71 Years

Mr. Joseph Gordon Henry, who marked his 98th birthday Feb. 26, and his wife, Frances, 87, of Cottle quietly observed their 71st wedding anniversary at home Saturday. Largely confined to their home now due to age, Mr. and Mrs. Henry were pleased that neighbors remembered them with a cake honoring them on their anniversary.

Mrs. Henry, the former Frances Yocum, remarked to a reporter, "It was awfully nice of the neighbors to remember."

Mr. Henry, a veteran of the Spanish American War, is a retired farmer and a son of the late William Powell and Malinda Cooper Henry of the Woodbend section.

Mrs. Henry, who will observe her 88th birthday May 20, is a daughter of the late Rev. William B. and Elizabeth Murphy Yocum.

The Henrys were married March 6, 1900, shortly after Mr. Henry received his discharge from the Army.

Mr. Henry is thought to be the oldest surviving Spanish-American War veteran in Kentucky, though he never got to Cuba or the Philippines. He was in Wyoming fighting Indians when the war broke out and served his hitch with an infantry company helping keep the peace on the western plains.

While serving at Ft. D. A. Russell near Cheyenne, Mr. Henry got to know Wild Bill Hickock and was involved in several skirmishes with hostile Indians.

The Henrys reside at Cottle with their son, Winfred. Their other children are Jim Henry, 70, the oldest of Twin Lakes, Mich., Wade Henry of Indianapolis, Ind., White Henry of Ezel, and Mrs. Lennie Thornberry of Ezel. Another son, Walter, was killed in Italy in World War II.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry are always happy to have their neighbors visit them. Mr. Henry told a reporter, "We've got lots of friends who come to see us. Maybe that's because we've done unto others as we like to have them do unto us."

The Henrys received national recognition this week after the Associated Press picked up the story of their anniversary.

Donald Wayne Williams of Louisville, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Williams, formerly of Morgan County.

Mrs. Martha Rose, draft board clerk, reported that three other young men went to Ashland Tuesday for pre-induction physicals.

GAS EXPLOSION DESTROYS HOME AT YOCUM FRIDAY

A family of seven narrowly escaped Friday after a tank of bottled gas exploded, destroyed their five-room frame home near Yocum.

Mr. and Mrs. Denzil Bishop and their five children, ranging in age from 9 to 20, were forced to flee with only the clothes they were wearing. Nothing else was saved.

The explosion occurred just before dark Friday. Mrs. Bishop said the family had just finished supper and was watching television in the living room when the blast shook the house.

Within seconds, the house was an inferno, she said, and the parents and older children ran out in time. Some fled without shoes.

It is thought that gas leaking from the tank seeped into the house and ignited from a stove. Following the initial blast, a second bottled gas tank also exploded.

"The force of the explosions blew upstairs window frames several yards away from the house where they were found later."

There was no insurance.

The family has moved into a house near Ezel owned by Mr. and Mrs. Omer Lewis.

A household shower to help the destitute family will be held at 7 p.m. Saturday at the Lick Fork Church. Persons wishing to donate clothing or household articles may contact Luster Bishop or Charles Lewis.

The Bishops have two sons, age 9 and other 20, and three teenage daughters, ages 13, 18, and 19.

Morgan Kept Intact In New House Redistricting Plan

9-County Senate District Up For Voting This Week

The Kentucky General Assembly may wind up its special session on redistricting this week—if neither house attempts to amend the redistricting plan submitted by the other house.

A substitute plan for reapportioning the Senate was brought out Wednesday of last week and passed by the Senate 50-7 on Friday.

Meanwhile, the House subcommittee on reapportionment worked out a compromise last week to amend its first bill for reapportioning House districts. And this week the House is submitting its amended House redistricting bill and the Senate redistricting bill sent over by the Senate, as a joint bill that was to be ready for House action Wednesday night.

Thus the House could pass the "package" bill this week, send it to the Senate for its approval, and then to the Governor.

But—there may be a number of amendments offered in the House. If some of them should displease the Senate, there could be other amendments by the Senate, thus delaying the session.

The House subcommittee's amended House redistricting bill reduces the number of counties to be split from 31 to 19 and thus seems to be more acceptable to Representatives, though population differentials range from 12.79% above the ideal to 12.78% below. But the bill splits fewer counties, and seems assured of passage in the House.

In the amended House bill, Morgan county is kept intact and is joined with Elliott and Rowan to form the 71st House district. The original House bill placed the eastern part of Morgan with Johnson and Martin to form the 97th, and placed the western part of Morgan with Menifee, Elliott and Rowan to form the 71st.

Rep. Joe Haney of West Liberty prevailed on the subcommittee last week not to divide Morgan, and the amended bill resulted, placing Morgan, Elliott and Rowan into a single district, to be known as the 71st.

Lawrence, which currently is combined with Elliott and Morgan, would be added to the southern part of Boyd to form a single district.

The Senate-passed bill redistricting Senate districts places Morgan in a nine-count district to be composed of Elliott, Morgan, Menifee, Magoffin, Wolfe, Breathitt, Lee, Owsley and Jackson, to be the 27th.

But reports were heard Wednesday that proposals would be made to change five districts in Eastern Kentucky, among them the proposed new 27th district.

Maps elsewhere show the proposed districts for both House and Senate.

Watts Offers New Burley Quota Bill Designed to Ease Small Growers' Fears

Would Put Reins On Future Cuts In Burley Production

BY LEONARD PARDEUE
Courier-Journal & Times Staff Writer

WASHINGTON — The effort to find common ground among tobacco-state congressmen on a new system of production controls for burley tobacco took another turn Tuesday.

Kentucky Rep. John C. Watts introduced a new bill advocating a system limiting the pounds of tobacco a farmer can market. The bill contained some small but significant changes from a measure Watts put forward last month.

The alterations were greeted as "a modest improvement" by Kentucky Rep. Tim Lee Carter, a critic of the first bill.

Watts' new bill would place a tighter rein on the Department of Agriculture's discretion to cut burley production after this year. The bill also would permit only the leasing of production quotas within a county, eliminating a proposal that sale of quotas be allowed.

Sen. John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky had said that he opposed the sale of quotas, because he fears that would mean large farmers would come to dominate the raising of burley tobacco.

Watts said Tuesday it would be "a futile gesture" to pass a bill permitting the sale of quotas with Cooper so strongly opposed to that.

The lease provision would permit a farmer to acquire up to 15,000 pounds of quota from other farmers within his county. Cooper, in a bill he introduced, had suggested a 5,000-pound limit on leases.

Watts said he favored the larger figure because that would provide "incentive to keep a young man on the farm. If he can lease that much, he's got a working unit."

The new bill, like the first, retains the feature whereby a farmer would average his yields for four of the past five years to attain his preliminary 1971 production quotas. That figure could be cut as much as five per cent by the Department of Agriculture.

But the bill changes the formula for determining quotas in subsequent years. The department could restrict production to no less than 95 per cent of estimated demand, up from 90 per cent in the first bill.

Carter and others have argued that some means be found to cushion the impact of production controls on small growers. Under the current acreage-allotment system of controls, farmers with allotments of one-half acre or less are exempt from any cuts.

Sixty per cent of the burley allotments, comprising 29 per cent of the acreage, are thus exempt.

The production program urged by Watts and Cooper would subject all farmers to production cuts designed to keep supply in balance with demand. But Watts' latest plan would mean a series of small cuts would be likely as the department seeks to reduce production and eliminate a current 10-month surplus of burley.

Carter called Watts' new bill "a small step in the right direction," but didn't commit himself. He has backed a minimum-quota provision in the production bill.

Rep. William C. Wampler of Virginia, another small-farmer spokesman, took much the same view of the new bill. He said he expected informal negotiations to take place on the matter in the next few days.

Wampler's role is considered important, because he is a member of the tobacco panel of the House Agriculture Committee that is being asked to act on the burley question.

The Cooper and Watts bills call for burley farmers to vote this spring whether to ratify production controls or scrap the system of federal price supports and production curbs. Existing law requires a two-thirds majority for approval.

DIVISION ON QUOTA PLAN MARKS SALYERSVILLE BURLEY MEETING

SALYERSVILLE, Ky., March 9—Four farmers walked out of a two-county tobacco meeting here today, commenting that they saw the proposed production control program for burley as an attempt to save the big grower.

Around 125 tobacco growers attended the meeting, conducted by the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture for the purpose of explaining the proposed production program.

Another farmer said he guessed he would vote for the production plan if the legislation is passed because he'd rather have some kind of program than none at all. But he said he didn't see how the little farmer could survive if the government started whittling away at the tobacco allotments of the small grower.

Under a proposed production control program, now before Congress, all growers would be limited in the number of pounds they can produce. All growers would share in any cuts or increases in the tobacco they could sell. Under the present system, a farmer may grow as many pounds as he can on his acreage allotment, and allotments of one-half acre or less are not subject to further reductions.

Both Magoffin and Lawrence have predominantly half-acre or less growers.

Homer May, who has little better than two acres, said, "I'd a lot rather have the production program, but Magoffin County looks like it's split right down the middle on whether to vote for production."

According to Ira Massie, UK tobacco specialist, who conducted the meeting, a good deal of confusion and suspicion exists because many farmers don't understand the details of the proposed programs.

In his presentation, Massie told the group that increased yields per acre have put the acreage control program in serious trouble. More than a three-year supply of burley tobacco is on hand with about 1.5 billion pounds in private holdings and approximately half a billion pounds in government stocks.

Ten years ago, Massie said, it took 3 pounds of all types of tobacco to make 1,000 cigarettes. But with new techniques in manufacturing, only 1.8 pounds of tobacco are required to make 1,000 cigarettes.

POSTAL RATES TO GO UP ON PAPERS

The Postal Service proposes rate increase in nearly all types of mail designed to boost its revenue $1.45 billion in its first full year.

The increases will take effect, at least in part, during the second week of May, postal officials say.

The proposal calls for an increase of two cents, to eight cents an ounce, on first class letters, and a one cent boost, to 11 cents, on airmail letters.

In addition, rates on magazines and newspapers would increase 14 1/2% in five equal installments over the next five years. The minimum per-piece rate for bulk third-class advertising matter would increase to five cents from four cents over the next five years.

One born of experience is worth a whole wilderness of warning. . . .

A large crowd of visitors from many areas in Kentucky and other states is expected at West Liberty's upcoming Dogwood Festival set for May 7-8. The festival will feature many activities for young and old, but its main purpose is to display and sell Morgan handicrafts. Visitors who come to buy will not be disappointed. Bogie Cox, above, of Cottle, one of the county's foremost needle-work artists, displays many examples of the crocheted and knitted articles she plans to display and sell at the festival. All of the items displayed above were handmade by Mrs. Cox. She sometimes works from patterns, but often as not she follows her own original ideas.

The beautifully colored and patterned items above include a crocheted tablecloth, shown draped above and behind the chair it took her three years to make. Numerous crocheted shawls and ponchos drape the front of the chair. A tatted tablecloth is shown. Beautifully-crafted pocketbooks, all handmade, are on the floor at the corner of the chair, resting on an unusual eye-catching rug made from discarded ladies hose. In her hand, Mrs. Cox displays crocheted baby sweater and boots to match which won her a blue ribbon at the county fair. Items like these, also handmade quilts, hooked rugs, and many, many other items will be displayed during the festival on West Liberty's Main Street.

UPPER CROCKETT

By Hattie Ferguson

March 8 — At this time we are saddened by the death of a lifelong resident of Upper Crockett. We will miss a good neighbor and the friendly smiles of Thurman Keeton. Our sympathy goes out to his family and many friends.

We are pleased to report that Ed Barker and family have moved back to their home in this vicinity. We missed them.

Mrs. Johnny Green gave a household shover for Mrs. Kathy Adkins a few days ago. She received many lovely and useful gifts. If I ever find out the names of all the friends who came I will report that, too. The refreshments were delicious. Especially that punch.

While in West Liberty recently we saw a few from our neighborhood: Lonzy Huthinson, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Barker, Mrs. Plan Gilliam and Mrs. Thurman Keeton. I didn't get to speak to any of them except Lonzy. He said his wife was not feeling well but he didn't reckon it was the flu.

Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Ferguson and family from Fairborn, Ohio visited with us recently. We were all thankful for the three lovely spring like days while they were here. The robin, song sparrow, bluebirds, and spring peepers all sang for them. And the children found a few wild flowers as we walked up the sunny side of a pasture hill.

A prayer for a friend—When years have passed like fleeting waves Across a wind-swept sea; And left it's ruins, here and there.

Its marks on you and me; When in Gethsemane you kneel, To drink the bitter cup— I shall be praying for you then, When sorrows dress you sup. I shall be praying for you then, When youth no more is mine; I shall remember then, with joy.

Another summertime. And I am praying God to please Be near to you, and kind— And build up there beyond the blue.

My mansion close to thine! —Reba Barker

BROTHER AND SISTER SPEND CHRISTMAS TOGETHER IN JAPAN

Cpl. Rex L. Halderman, U. S. Marine Corps, stationed on Okinawa flew to Yokota Air Force Base in Japan on December 22. He took a train to Yokosuka to his sister's home, Mrs. Susan Norris. Mrs. Norris' husband is in the Navy. Riding trains in Japan is confusing and they are crowded. Rex got on the wrong train and ended up in Tokyo. He had to go back to Tachikawa to get on the right train to Yokosuka.

On Christmas Eve, Keith and Susan Norris and Rex went to a couple's house for an American style Christmas dinner. Christmas day, Keith had to work, so Susan and Rex went into Yokosuka for a Japanese style dinner. That evening they were invited to a Japanese home and Rex was given the seat of honor, which means at the head of the table.

January 2, Susan took Rex on a special service tour to Tokyo. It was a clear day and they got a beautiful view of Mt. Fuji. They saw the Tokyo Tower and went to the Imperial Palace. The Imperial Palace is open to the public only on January 2 and April 29 (the Emperor's birthday). On these two days the Emperor and his family make appearances to erect the people. They saw the Emperor and Empress and their two sons and wives.

After a walk around the Palace Grounds they went through the Tokvo Ginza and had lunch at Sureshiro Restaurant. It is rated the largest sukiyaki restaurant in Tokyo. They ate Japanese style — on the floor, and the waitresses (in Kimonos) cooked for them at their table. Next they went to the Yasukuni Shrine. New Years is the biggest holiday in Japan and all the people go to the shrines and temples wearing their best kimonos etc.

A good kimono (silk) and obi can cost anywhere from $300 to $400 on up. In these beautiful kimonos the Japanese people did traditional dances.

On their way back to Yokosuka they saw the 1964 olympic area and went through Yokohama.

They saw the Darbutsu (The Great Buddha of Kamakura). This Buddha is about 710 years old, weighs 274,428 lbs., and is 44 feet high. It sits in a park close to Tokyo. Rex returned to Okinawa on January 3. Previously, Rex and Susan had spent 16 months on Okinawa with their mother when the Korean war was on.

Cpl. Halderman is now in Vietnam near Danang and due back in the states about July, 1971.

Susan Norris has been in Japan since December, 1969. She teaches English Conversation at Shanon English College twice a week and is doing some modeling in Tokyo and Yokohama.

Cpl. Halderman and Mrs. Norris' mother is Mrs. Lloyd Wombald, who lives at 240 E. Main St. in Verona, Ohio. Mrs. Wombald is the former Klydia Ashley, daughter of Sam and Lea Ashley of Louisville. She was born in West Liberty and graduated from MCHS with the class of 1942.

Master Sgt. and Mrs. Robert C. Kerr and daughters, Beth Ann, left, and Cynthia Elaine. The Kerrs are now in Ankara, Turkey, where Sgt. Kerr is stationed with the U. S. Air Force. During their four in Turkey, the Kerrs have visited many interesting places. A letter describing their visit to the ancient city of Ephesus is printed below.

FORMER MORGAN COUNTIANS TOUR BIBLICAL CITY OF EPHEBUS

The following interesting letter is from Master Sgt. and Mrs. Robert C. Kerr, who write from Ankara, Turkey, where Sgt. Kerr is stationed with the U. S. Air Force. Mrs. Kerr is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Shaver of Pomf.

Hello again from Morgan Countians in Turkey and a special hello to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Shaver.

Last week we drove to the Aegean Coast of Turkey and visited the Ancient City of Ephesus and the last home of Mary the mother of Jesus. On the way we were surprised to see that some people over here are still using oxen to pull their plows etc. We passed many shepherds minding their flock and they all waved a friendly hello to us. Many times we had to stop our car to let camels go by. Many people still use them for transportation.

When we arrived at Ephesus we visited the Ancient City first. In the middle of the 6th Century, B. C. Croesus, the last King of Lydia besieged Ephesus. With the defeat of Croesus by the Persians in 541 B. C., Ephesus joined the Ionian Confederation. In 494 B. C. Darius, King of the Persians, conquered the area.

Early Christianity began in this Ancient City. We walked on the marble streets that were probably walked on by St. Luke and St. John. Their tombs are located here.

Later, we visited the last home of Mary the mother of Jesus. Her home is located at Bulbuldag (Nightingale Mountain) just outside of Ephesus.

St. John took Mary to the vicinity of Ephesus four or six years after the Ascension of her son, Jesus. The house which St. John had built for her in advance was the only one built of stone.

OBSERVATIONS AND PREDICTIONS

HISTORICAL SOCIETY GROWS — The Kentucky Historical Society reports that its membership has recently passed the 10,000 mark, and is now the second largest historical society in the nation. Also that Dr. Hamblin Tapp, director of Waveland Museum in Lexington, will become editor of the Kentucky Historical Society on July 1. Col. George M. Chinn, Frankfort, Ky., is director of the society.

WHITE DRY LIQUORS — Hardly had Brown-Forman Distillers Corp. of Louisville announced it would soon introduce a new white dry liquor (to be known as FROST 8/80) than Seagrams announced too it is introducing a white liquor "which anticipates the taste of light whiskey." Seagrams is recalling its four Roses blended whiskey and replacing it with a newly constituted blend—Four Roses Premium, which is a newer lighter American whiskey. (A light liquor is one that is "proof" or alcoholic content and is pale in color.) The two new white dry whiskeys are being made to meet the needs of more social drinking, especially among women, who prefer a milder whiskey. The head was pointed up by recent surveys made to find what is best to offset the increasing sale of Scotch and vodka in America.

STAYS WITH THE ESTABLISHMENT — Editor Norman Allen of the Floyd County Times, opines that he will stay with "The Establishment." Here's the way puts it —

"Why destroy the Establishment? Sure, it's old. So are Plymouth, Rock and 'Amazing Grace.' But it works — not perfectly, but it works.

"It sets the taxes and collects them, pays the bills, hears the complaints, makes mistakes, corrects the mistakes that we insist on being corrected, gets things done.

"It is the American way — not immutable, but subject to change at the hands of free men.

"I'm for the Establishment because without it, as we know it, there would be another. Only, the new one might have as top dog a guy like Castro or a gang like the Supreme Soviet.

"And, if that should happen, what would or could we who want to gripe about the Establishment do?"

FARMERS CAN SET ASIDE CORN AND RETAIN BASE

There have been numerous inquiries from producers affected by the corn blight in 1970 regarding applicability of the prevented planting provision of the ASCS Program.

Paul Fuqua, Chairman of the Kentucky ASCS Committee said the Secretary of Agriculture has determined all counties in Kentucky were seriously affected by the corn blight in 1970. The preventing planting credit will be available in 1971.

Each individual producer will be required to file a written request with his county ASCS Committee. The request will be effective for 1971 when approved by the Committee.

This provision will enable many producers who are unable to obtain a sufficient supply of blight resistant corn seed to participate in the feed grain set aside program, receive payment, and preserve their feed grain base.

Producers having further questions should contact their local ASCS County Office.

Now there's a new, small Pontiac with a small-car price for small-car lovers.

Wouldn't you know it would be fun to drive, stingy on gas, quick to service and built to last.

Of course you would. We wouldn't build a small car unless we figured it would give you more of what you want a small car for.

Take that low price. Ventura II is a small car, so it has a low, small-car price. But it's what you get for that small price that makes Ventura II worth a close look.

Ventura II is fun to drive. It should be, it's from the Wide-Track people. Which means you get a smooth, comfortable, Wide-Track ride.

The handling's quick. There's a nifty 111-inch wheelbase for easy parking. And both the 250-cu.-in. six and available 307-cu.-in. V-8 respond beautifully in city traffic or on the expressway.

Ventura II is stingy with your gas money. Both the standard six-cylinder engine and the V-8 you can order run beautifully on regular gas or the new low-lead and no-lead fuels. The carburetor on the six is an economical one-barrel, and the transmission for both six and V-8 is a practical 3-speed manual.

Ventura II is quick to service. If you're a do-it-yourselfer, you'll like fiddling around with the new Ventura II.

New twist-lock lamp sockets let you make changes in seconds.

The engine is uncomplicated, and there is plenty of engine-compartment space, especially with the six.

If you ever need to have somebody else work on your car—well, you'll like Ventura II, too. Both the standard six and available V-8 are tough, time-tested designs. Same goes for transmissions. The standard 3-speed manual and the available 2-speed automatic, Turbo Hydra-matic or floor-mounted 3-speed are all rugged, dependable units.

Ventura II is built to last. There's nothing lightweight about this car. It's welded—not bolted—at hundreds of strategic points to help keep it tight and quiet.

The body is heavy-gauge steel. And it has double paneling in the deck lid, hood and doors. You could probably sum it up best with three little words. Body by Fisher.

So, come on. If you're a small-car lover, stop by your Pontiac dealer's today.

Tell him you want to see the new Ventura II. It's the small car that gives you more of what you want a small car for.

Don't forget to buckle up for safety.

Early Kentucky Town's Buildings Being Preserved

The small town of Washington, near Mayeville, once was county seat of Mason county and in the early days was the second most important town in Kentucky, after Lexington. The town was established in 1786 on land near the Ohio river that was donated by Simon Kepton. It served as county seat until 1848 and has some of the oldest buildings in Kentucky. Civic groups in Maysville have joined to preserve 33 unspoiled 18th century buildings in Washington, among which is Paxton Inn, Mefford's Fort, Old Church Museum and the childhood home of Gen. Albert Sidney Johnson. Confederate general killed at Shiloh, which has been turned into a museum containing relics of the town's early period. These buildings are open to the public from May 1 to Christmas.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of Gerald Dennis Clevenger, whose 19th birthday was March 1st, and who passed away June 18, 1966. A precious one from us has gone. A voice we loved is still a place is vacant in our home that never can be filled. The loneliness in our hearts is all that we can bear, we miss you more each day since God called you to his care. You are not dead—not lost, but gone on before. You live with us in memory and will forever more. God needed another angel to worship before His throne. So he looked down from Heaven and called our loved one home. Time has passed since that sad day the one we loved was called away. God took you. It was his will. But your memory lingers still more and more each day we miss you. Friends may think the wound is healed, But they little know the sorrow that lives in our hearts concealed.

Yes, God took you home 't was his will and in our hearts your memory liveth still. But only a star shines over the grave of the one we loved and could not save.

Sadly missed by parents Mr. and Mrs. Hassan Clevenger and all the family Chosen as Queen of the May was Shelia Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Williams of Maytown.

This year's King of the May is Frank Ratliff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edison Ratliff of Ezel.
First attendants are Teresa Allen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Allen of Mize, and Gigger Nipper, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dorman Nipper of Ezel.
Second attendants are Jo Oldfield, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Oldfield, Jr. of Ezel, and Kenny Cecil, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cecil, Jr. of Mize.

ODDS AND ENDS

By Earl Kinner, Jr.

Over in Elliott County officials are trying to locate 47 Negroes which the Census Bureau says reside in that County. As in Morgan County, where Census figures indicate there are 56 Negroes residing, nobody seems to know just where to find them. In fact, the last Negro known to reside in Elliott died nearly a century ago. Said one Elliott County politician, only half joking, "This is serious business. The government says we've got 47 Negroes so they must be here somewhere. Trouble is we can't find 'em and how you gonna vote 'em if you can't find 'em and get 'em registered?" Both parties, we hear, are beating up and down the hollars trying to locate the 103 Negroes (in both Elliott and Morgan). But so far, nobody's seen hide nor hair of them.

Last week, we allowed as how Henry L. Allen's jumping the gun on the fishing season may have had something to do with last week's snow storm. We have since been informed that some other eager beavers had been visiting the river banks, too, among them Willie Collett and Charlie Ferguson. Arnold Helton reports that large catches of suckers were made near the sewage disposal plant.

At a friend's suggestion, we tuned in a news program on the local radio station Sunday. And lo and behold! Right their on the air in "living color," right off the front page of last week's Licking Valley Courier were six of OUR news stories, read verbatim in the silver-throated voice of Mr. Gene Rome. "Plagerism," suggested our friend. Aren't there laws against that?" "For Heaven's sake," we cried, "perish the thought." "After all," we said, "old Gene's got to make a living, too, and if he's so busy he hasn't got time to write his own news, why then he's welcome to ours."

In fact, we're down right flattered. A few years back during our sojourn as a journalism student at the University of Kentucky, we had the good fortune to make the acquaintance of a quite exceptional fellow — a radio arts major — one of the sharpest young men we ever had the privilege to meet. (He later got out of the radio business and started a newspaper).

Anyway, "Radio newsmen," he once imparted, "are a breed apart."

"Brevity and clarity," he said, "are the bywords of the radio journalist — especially brevity."

"And, Kinner," he said, "it looks like you'll never make the grade."

"Because, son," he confided, "while you sometimes write it well, you take too long in the telling" meaning we used too many words to fit into a five-minute news spot.

Having been born with printer's ink in our veins, we didn't care two hoots and a hollar whether our copy was suitable for radio or not. But secretly, we always figured our copy would sound just as good on the air as his.

Boy! If he could have just heard old Gene reading our copy Sunday!

Mrs. Elsie Richard, one of our Republican friends and Courier correspondent at Prater Ridge, informs us that she was surprised to learn from an editorial in last week's Courier that U.S. Senator John Sherman Cooper is a Democrat. We were, too, and we have just been demoted to proofreader second class.

To achieve this goal, Mgr. Hill has initiated a massive training program for Mt. Rural personnel in every department. "Only by improving the people who provide the services can we achieve our aim," said Mr. Hill.

1 cup whipping cream
1/8 teaspoon salt

3 tablespoons green maraschino cherry juice (cold)
3 drops green cake coloring if desired

In a small bowl sprinkle gelatin over cold maraschino cherry juice to soften. Scald 2 tablespoons cream; pour over gelatin, stirring until dissolved. Refrigerate until consistency of unbeaten egg whites. With hand beater whip remaining cream; fold in salt, sugar, and gelatin mixture. Sufficient to fill and frost a 9-inch round cake.
